27. An Ancient Spice

The common spice, cinnamon, was once a very expensive and highly prized product. Egypt it imported cinnamon as early as 2000 B.C. and regarded it as a gift fit for Kings. Today, he is used in both sweet and savory dishes. Worldwide, most cinnamon comes from the island of Sri Lanka located in the Indian ocean. It is obtained from the inner bark of a tropical evergreen Tree; the bark herself can be consumed directly. Here in the U.S., cinnamon is used to flavor cereals, fruits, and of course, cinnamon rolls.

28. A Great Lady

Our teacher she gave a class assignment to write about a great lady. Sophia and me decided we'd write about the Statue of Liberty. Me already knew she was a gift to the United States from the people of France in recognition of the friendship established during the American Revolution. Her has stood proudly in New York Harbor for more than 125 years. In 1984, the United Nations designated the Statue of Liberty a World Heritage Site. Following a massive restoration, the Statue re-opened to the public on July 5, 1986.
